A binary heap is a complete binary tree used to implement a priority queue.
In a min-heap every parent is smaller than or equal to its children.
Insert and extract-min both take O(log n) time.